In this side event, the organizers will share initiatives on formalizing and reinforcing open emergent networks of heritage practitioners, from site managers to researchers, including decision and policy-makers as well as institutions. Different networking platforms being currently under way at global and regional levels will be presented by Advisory Bodies, UNESCO Chair, Category 2 Centre and other partners, which objectives are to facilitate knowledge-sharing on World Heritage beyond expertise and disciplines, and to connect practitioners dedicated to the conservation of natural and cultural heritage alike.

ICCROM is an intergovernmental organization working in service to its 136 Member States to promote the conservation of all forms of cultural heritage, in every region of the world. We serve as the capacity building advisory body to the World Heritage Convention. For more than six decades, ICCROM has been working on its core mandate of conservation training, information, research, cooperation and advocacy. The organization engages and informs new generations of professionals and the general public with an interest in heritage.

World Heritage Leadership is the capacity building programme of ICCROM jointly delivered with IUCN with the generous funding from the Norwegian Ministry of Climate and Environment. The Programme takes a fully integrated approach to nature and culture, with an objective to improve management practices by working with sites and people working on sites.

The World Heritage Institute of Training and Research for the Asia and the Pacific (WHITRAP) is a Category 2 Institute established under the auspices of UNESCO. The Institute's mission is to strengthen the implementation of the World Heritage Convention in the Asia and the Pacific region, by building the capacity of all involved with World Heritage site inscription, protection, conservation and management, through training, research, the dissemination of information and network building. Networking is explicitly mentioned in the mandate of WHITRAP which can also underpin achieving its objectives on one hand and benefit heritage practitioners on the other. With this objective in mind, WHITRAP Shanghai initiated HERITAGE Asia-Pacific (heritAP), a network which aims to foster sharing of knowledge and experiences among individuals and institutions in the Asia-Pacific Region.
